

7 ways Accountants can IMPROVE YOUR GROWTH

1

360 Financial View

Financial planning is the backbone of any successful business. With a 360-degree view of your finances, and with up to date financial information, an accountant will be able to give well informed advice on financial decisions, planning and opportunities for growth.

2

Excellent Cash Flow

From having an overhaul of your expenses, to sorting out your credit control system, an accountant can get your processes into good shape and make those cash flow issues a thing of the past.

3

Identifying KPI's

Business Intelligence savvy firm of accountants in London will be able to identify what is working in your business, developing key performance indicators (KPIs) for your business to enable you to make realistic & smart decisions for the future of the company.

Identifying funding opportunities

Expert financial advisor will know about potential investment decisions that could be of interest to you or have knowledge about short-term business loans and funding grants that could be available for future growth of your business.

5

Contribute to Business Planning

A financial expert can identify growth solutions such as identifying new markets for your business, bench-marking against competitors and helping you to effectively budget and forecast for the future.

6

Spend more time 'on' the business

An owner's workload can be overwhelming, running a business, managing employees & keeping customers happy all while making sure the business survives might make you miss out on identifying growth opportunities for your business. With the help of a proactive accountant, you can get highly focused visual reports, KPI's & snapshots which will tell you exactly whats working for your business and whats not, enabling you to focus your skills on actually developing & growing your business.

7

Advisory through Business Changes

An accountant can support with advising on any major changes happening within the business such as restructuring, merger or expansion opportunities or any other major changes which incur while you are running your business
